Cookies

A website is used to collect your data. This website contains cookies.

A cookie is a small text file that is placed on your computer, tablet or smartphone during your visit to a website. Information is stored in this text file. This information can be recognized again by this website on a later visit. And sometimes another website can read the cookie and store information in it. Some cookies are necessary because otherwise the website does not work. There are also cookies that are useful for the visitor. For example because it remembers in which language you want to read the website. But many cookies are used to keep track of what you do on the internet. For example, which pages you have looked at.

We use necessary cookies that remember the basic settings and keep statistics. In addition, functional cookies are placed that make it possible to share pages via social media.

Exceptions and / or additions

Third countries

There are data that are stored on servers that are outside of Europe. Most data that is not stored in Europe is stored at companies in the United States of America. Companies that handle this information adequately are certified with the Privacy Shield. Google Analytics, Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn are in possession of this certificate.

- Google Analytics:

We use Google Analytics to keep track of how visitors use the website. This information is stored together with the IP address of your computer by Google on servers in the United States. Google uses this information to keep track of how our website is used to provide us with reports about the website and to provide advertisers with information about the effectiveness of their campaigns.

Google may provide this information to third parties if Google is legally required to do so, or insofar as these third parties process the information on behalf of Google. We have no influence on this.

- Social Media:

The website contains buttons (and / or links) to promote or share pages on various social media channels such as Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. These buttons are implemented by code supplied by Facebook and Twitter and LinkedIn itself. This code places a cookie among other things to analyze the behavior of visitors.

Read the privacy statement of these social media (which can change regularly) to see what they do with the personal data they process with this code. We have no influence on this.

Below you will find the links to the privacy statements of Google, Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn.
